GENERAL QUESTIONS

1. What is the Migrant Workers and Overseas Filipinos Act (MWOFA) of 1995, as amended?

This is the law that protects the Overseas Filipinos and Migrant Workers. It provides adequate and timely social, economic and legal services to Filipino migrant workers. It affords protection to labor--organized and unorganized, and promotes full employment and equal employment opportunities.

2. Does the MWOFA of 1995, as amended promote overseas work to sustain Philippine economic growth?

No. The law sees to it that if a Filipino Citizen freely chooses to work overseas, he/she is assured that his/her dignity, fundamental human rights and freedoms shall not be compromised or violated in the host country.

3. Who is an Overseas Filipino Worker (OFW)?

A Filipino Citizen who is about to engage, presently engaged, or engaged in the past in an activity with compensation:

- a) in another country where he/she is not a citizen;
- b) on board a vessel navigating foreign seas excluding government ship used for military on non-commercial purposes; or
- c) on an installation located offshore or on high seas.

4. What is the difference between an OFW and a migrant worker?

They mean the same thing. In the context of MWOFA of 1995, as amended, the terms OFW and migrant worker are used interchangeably.

5. What is the difference between an agency-hired OFW and a direct-hire OFW or a name-hire OFW?

An OFW is agency-hired if he/she availed the services of a recruitment/manning agency duly authorized by the Department of Labor and Employment (DOLE) through the Philippine Overseas Employment Agency (POEA).

On the other hand, an OFW is direct-hired or name-hired if he/she was hired directly by foreign employers such as: international organizations; diplomatic corps; and those who were able to get an employment without the assistance or participation of any recruitment/manning agency.

6. What is the Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance (OCI)?

The Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance or the Compulsory Insurance Coverage for Agency-Hired Migrant Workers, is an insurance mechanism made available by the law to provide insurance protection for the OFWs.

7. What is the Compulsory Insurance Coverage for Agency-Hired Migrant Workers?

This is also the Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance. Refer to frequently asked question no. 6.

8. Who are covered by the Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance?

The Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance is mandatory for agency-hired OFWs. It is not mandatory for direct-hired, name-hired, or re-hired OFWs. If interested they can also avail of this insurance.

COVERAGE AND BENEFITS

9. What are the benefits and coverages of the Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance?

The benefits of the Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance are as follows:

Type of Benefit	Amount

10. What is the Accidental Death Benefit?

When an insured OFW covered by the Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance dies from an accident, USD 15,000.00 will be paid to his/her listed beneficiaries. If there are more than one listed beneficiaries, the payment will be divided equally among them.

Examples of deaths due to accidents are car accidents and work-related accidents in the factory and in the construction site.

11. What is the Natural Death Benefit?

When an insured OFW covered by the Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance dies from causes aside from accidents, USD 10,000.00 will be paid to his/her listed beneficiaries. If there are more than one listed beneficiaries, the payment will be divided equally among them.

12. Is suicide covered by the Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance?

Yes. The coverage starts at the enforcement of the insurance coverage. The usual 2-year contestability period in insurance contracts is not applicable for the Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance.

13. What is the Total Permanent Disablement Benefit?

When an insured OFW covered by the Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance is totally and permanently disabled, USD 7,500.00 will be paid to him/her.

The Total Permanent Disablement Benefit can be claimed if any of the following will happen:

- a) Permanent damage to both eyes;
- b) Permanent damage to both hands (i.e. paralyzed or cut at or above the wrists);
- c) Permanent damage to both feet (i.e. paralyzed or cut at or above the ankles); and
- d) Permanent damage to the head (comatose or insanity).

The permanent disablement should be due to an accident or any health-related cause or sickness suffered during the insured's employment.

14. If an insured OFW lost one limb \(arm or foot\) or an eye, is there a partial payment for the disability?

None. The Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance only covers permanent and total damage to both arms, feet, and eyes.

15. What is the Repatriation Cost Benefit?

In case the insured OFW was terminated by his/her employer without any valid cause, or the employee resigns with valid cause, the actual cost of transportation (air fare only) is covered by the Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance. The proceeds of this benefit go directly to the agency to reimburse the cost of one-way plane ticket back to the Philippines.

The Repatriation Cost Benefit also covers the cost of personal belongings of the insured OFW in case of death.

In case of the insured OFW's death, the insurance company shall render assistance in the transport of the remains and belongings through the use of their service providers (American Assist or SOS).

16. What are the valid reasons for claiming the Repatriation Cost Benefit?

The Repatriation Cost Benefit can be claimed when any of the following happens:

- a) Illegal termination by the insured OFW's employer – termination of work contract without valid reason;
- b) Non-payment of salary;
- c) Maltreatment;
- d) Overworked;
- e) Poor living conditions (e.g. no running water in living quarter, no proper bed, etc.);
- f) Poor working conditions (e.g. non-payment of agreed bonus, no break-time during work hours, etc.); and
- g) Medical reasons.

Homesickness, loneliness, laziness, personal problems, criminal offenses and violation of Employer rules are not valid reasons and are not covered by the Repatriation Cost Benefit.

17. What is the Subsistence Allowance Benefit?

When an insured files a case against his/her employer at the Philippine Overseas Labor Office (POLO), the OFW is entitled to subsistence allowance of USD 100.00 per month, for a maximum of six (6) months, will be given to the OFW to defray his/her living expenses.

18. What is the Money Claims Benefit?

Money Claims Benefit is the settlement money or adjudged amount for the remaining months/years of employment contract from a case filed by an OFW against his/her recruitment agency with the National Labor Relations Commission (NLRC). Should the NLRC renders judgment in favor of the OFW, the recruitment/manning agency will settle the money. Within thirty (30) days, the recruitment/manning agency, must give the settlement or amount adjudged to the OFW.

19. What is the Compassionate Visit Benefit?

When an insured OFW is hospitalized and confined or to be confined for at least seven (7) consecutive days he/she shall be entitled to a compassionate visit by one (1) family member or a requested individual.

The insurance company shall cover the actual cost of transportation (2-way air fare) of a family member or the requested individual to the major airport closest to the place of hospitalization of the insured OFW.

The family member or the requested individual shall secure the required visa and other travel documents on his/her own.

20. What is the Medical Evacuation Benefit?

When an insured OFW's medical needs cannot be provided for by the nearest medical facility, evacuation in any mode of transportation necessary shall be covered by the insurance company. This requires prior approval of the insurance company's physician or consulting physician. The medical evacuation shall be under appropriate medical supervision. In practice, the insurance company's service provider performs the medical evacuation.

21. What is the Medical Repatriation Benefit?

When an insured OFW will no longer be able to perform work due to a medical condition, repatriation under medical supervision shall be covered by the insurance company. This requires prior approval of the insurance company's physician and consulting physician.

If the period within which the insured OFW can get medical clearance exceeds fourteen (14) days from the discharge from the hospital, an appropriate alternative mode of transportation shall be used. The insurance company may provide medical escort for the OFW if needed.

22. What is the Return of the Mortal Remains Benefit?

The Return of the Mortal Remains Benefit is embedded in the repatriation cost benefit. Refer to question no. 15 for further details.

HOW TO FILE AN INSURANCE CLAIM

23. How to file a claim for Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance?

To file a claim, the OFW, the OFW's recruitment agency, or their beneficiary must contact the Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance provider. Telephone numbers of the insurance companies can be found in the OFW's proof of cover or contact cards. It is the ultimate responsibility of the recruitment agency to assist the OFW and/or the OFW Beneficiary in claiming the benefits.

Then, a claim form must be filled-up and submitted to the insurance company. Attachments or documentary requirements must be submitted with the claim form. Refer to the specific question on each of the nine (9) benefits.

24. Where can I file a claim for Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance?

The OFW or the OFW Beneficiary must notify the recruitment agency of an event covered by the Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance. If the recruitment agency can't be contacted, the insurance company can be directly contacted. The insurance companies have partner service providers that serve as the gateway of the OFWs in their host countries.

OTHER QUESTIONS

40. When does an OFW need to go to the Philippine Overseas Labor Office (POLO) for documentation in claiming an insurance benefit?

It depends on the benefit you are claiming. Appropriate certificate from the POLO is needed for the following claims:

1. Repatriation Cost for non-medical claims; and
2. Subsistence Allowance.

For other types of insurance claims, going to the POLO to ask for a certificate is not necessary.

41. Are partial but permanent disablement covered by the Agency-hired OFW Compulsory Insurance?

No, partial but permanent damage is not covered by the Agency OFW Compulsory Insurance. Refer to question no. 13 for further details.

42. What are money claims?

Money claims are payments arising from the employer's fault which may be given to the OFW through his/her recruitment or manning agency. The decision or settlement of a labor case is under the jurisdiction of the National Labor Relations Commission (NLRC).

The insurance benefit is limited to three (3) months for every year of the OFW's contract with a maximum of USD 1,000.00 per month.

In case the amount of insurance coverage is not enough to cover the amount as determined by the NLRC or the settlement amount, the recruitment or manning agency has to pay the difference.

43. What is the difference of filing a case in the Insurance Commission (IC) and filing a case in the National Labor Relations Commission (NLRC)?

The IC decides on cases involving insurance claims. On the other hand, the NLRC handles labor related cases.

44. How to apply for the Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance?

If you are an agency-hired OFW, your agency applies for your insurance coverage in your behalf. An insurance proof of cover is one of the requirements of the Philippine Employment Overseas Administration (POEA) before an OFW or a migrant-worker can be issued an Overseas Employment Certificate (OEC).

If you are a direct-hired or name-hired OFW you can choose to be protected by the Agency-hired OFW Compulsory Insurance. You may contact insurance companies providing Agency-hired OFW Compulsory Insurance Coverage. Click here for the accredited insurance companies.

45. How much is the insurance premium for the Agency-hired OFW Compulsory Insurance?

Currently, there is no minimum or maximum amount of insurance premium. The IC deemed that the competition among the insurance providers will enable savings and better insurance services for the OFWs.

46. Who should pay the insurance premium for the Agency-hired OFW Compulsory Insurance cover?

The recruitment or manning agency should pay the insurance premium for the Agency-hired OFW Compulsory Insurance. The recruitment or manning agency may negotiate the payment with the foreign employer.

In no case should the OFW pay for the said premium whether directly or as a deduction from his/her salary. It should be at no cost to the OFW.

In case, the OFW is required to pay a fee which he or she suspects is for insurance premium, please coordinate with the POEA.

47. Is the mass repatriation ordered by the Philippine Government due to wars covered by the Repatriation Cost Benefit?

No. The Agency-Hired OFW Compulsory Insurance does not cover repatriation costs due to wars in host countries. Click here for the clarificatory letter of the Insurance Commission on the issue.
